CLINKSCALES FOR PRIMARY REFORM

Says if Elected Governor Will Suppress Race Track Gambling in Charleston. Is Optimistic.

Spartanburg, May 7.—In an interview yesterday, Prof. John G. Clinkscapes, Spartanburg's candidate for governor, declared himself as greatly pleased with the action of the county democratic convention Monday. Mr. Clinkscapes was sent as a delegate by his club to the convention, but a previous engagement for May 4 prevented his attending.

"What do you think of the action of the convention touching the primary, Professor?" was asked.

Approves Action.

"Fine, very fine," was the quick reply. "I send to Columbia a delegation composed of strong, intellectual, honest, representative men. They go uninstructed as to the primary and I'm sure every man will vote for such rules and regulations as will insure an honest election."

"What in your judgment, should the state convention do to safeguard the primary?"

"Excuse me, please; I would not presume to dictate to the convention just what that body should do, but that something will be done and the proper thing, I have no doubt. Things will certainly be fixed so that only true-blue democrats can vote, each man but once, and republicans and bull moosers not at all. A self-respecting republican or bull moose would not ask it of course."

"What do you think would be the result if the convention should fail to take action?"

No Action Means No Primaries.

"If the convention takes no action to safeguard the primary, and if in the August primary we have corruption, in my judgment, it will be the last primary ever held in South Carolina. Good people will tolerate some things a long time, but corruption in elections they will not stand for."

"Do you object to my publishing that statement, professor?"

"Why, certainly not; I am for an honest election or no election. Several months ago I wrote Mr. McMahon of Columbia, just where I stood in reply to several questions he sent me. He said he had asked the other candidates the same questions and proposed to publish their replies. He never did, however."

"You talk so freely and so plainly of the necessity to safeguard the primary I am led to ask what, if elected governor, you would do with the Charleston situation?"

"What do you have reference to particularly, the reputed condition of general lawlessness?"

"Yes, the racetrack gambling and the bold defiance of the dispensary law; as you say, general lawlessness."

Will Suppress Racetrack.

"Well, I have said more than once that if I were governor I would be the governor of all the people. Charleston is in South Carolina, her citizens are South Carolinians, and many of them numbered among the purest and best people of the state. If I were governor of South Carolina I would change conditions in Charleston or exhaust the resources of the state in the effort. There is no reason why Charleston should be a 'law unto herself.' The better element of that city do not expect special privileges and the other element should not have them. Blind tiger domination of the city of Charleston is a stench in the nostrils of decent Carolinians, her own good citizens as well. Surely there is in South Carolina enough, brain, enough money, and enough courage to teach the City by the Sea that she must obey the laws as do other cities or be wiped off the map."

"Professor, are you not afraid this plain talk will hurt you in the election?"

Is Conscientious.

"Young man, you do not know me. I may never be governor of South Carolina, but of one thing I'm sure—I shall stand acquitted at the bar of my own conscience. I would not give a bauble for an office that I had to get by even winking at corruption in any shape or form. I'd have a contempt for myself."

JOSEPH T. JOHNSON.

(By T. Larry Gantt, in Jones County News, Ellisville, Miss.)

Some days since the Memphis, Tennessee, Commercial-Appeal contained a lengthy and very strong editorial of endorsement of Hon. Joseph T. Johnson, member of congress from the Spartanburg district of South Carolina. That paper spoke of the magnificent work Mr. Johnson is doing to protect the people against extravagant expenditures and to bring about true reforms in public affairs.

Among the bills introduced by Mr. Johnson was one for members to be paid actual traveling expenses, and not 20 cents per mile, as is now the law. Mr. Johnson argued that the 20-cent mileage was adopted before the days of railways and cheap and rapid transit, when members had to travel back and forth from Washington by stage coach or on horseback. But now that they can travel on railways for not exceeding three cents, it is unjust to the taxpayers for members to receive some five or six times their actual outlay, besides their salaries and other perquisites. Members from our insular possessions, or even the far west or Pacific slope, thus take from the treasury a sum almost equal to the salary of a congressman.

Mr. Johnson succeeded in having this bill pass the house, be it said to the credit of the members, but it hangs fire in the senate.

And this is only one of the highly commendable bills this faithful and vigilant South Carolina congressman has introduced. He has ever since his election to congress, fought unnecessary extravagance, and is indeed in truth a guardian of the public treasury. He has waged an unending war against the policy of pensioning public officials, and in fact, every financial measure introduced is carefully studied by Congressman Johnson and he never fails nor hesitates to show the injustice of needless expenditures. This vigilant member has saved the people a vast sum of money, and we heartily endorse all the praise given him by the Memphis paper.

The editor of this paper supported Mr. Johnson when he first made his race for congress and we have watched with pride and gratification his splendid career. He is the soul of honor, truth and sincerity, and his constituents always know that their every right and interest is safeguarded by Joe Johnson.

To show the kind of man he is we heard him confess to casting a certain unpopular vote, when Senator Irby, his bitterest political enemy, asserted that he (Irby) was at the polls in Laurens all day, and that Johnson did not vote. But instead of seeking to advance his political success by condoning an error, Jos. Johnson stated that Senator Irby was mistaken; that he did vote, while the senator was taking a lunch, but the speaker confessed that he made a mistake in that ballot. Joe Johnson then went on to state that he knew this confession would injure his chances for election to congress, but he had rather go down in defeat than secure office by conniving at an honest mistake or under false colors.

Instead of that confession harming Mr. Johnson, it showed the voters the true and honest man he was. He swept his district, and for a number of terms has faithfully and ably represented not only his constituents, but the people of our entire country.

Such men as Joe Johnson, of Spartanburg, are few and far between in this degenerate age, and his people are doing a great work for both their district and the country at large when they retain him in office.

We have known Hon. Joseph T. Johnson long and intimately, and it did our heart good to see him so highly endorsed and commended by such strong and well informed papers as the Memphis Commercial-Appeal. In fact, we notice that the press of the entire country is holding Congressman Johnson, of South Carolina, up as an example for their members.

God never created a purer heart or a man more free from the slightest taint of corruption. You can always place Joe Johnson for he is ever on the side of truth, right and justice. He is not only an able statesman, but he is a Christian gentleman, with heart overflowing with love and charity for his fellow-man.

The people of the old Spartan district of the Palmetto state are wise in retaining Joe T. Johnson in congress, for they will never find an abler or better man. He is not only honored in his own country and by his own people, but likewise abroad and throughout the length and breadth of the land. Mr. Johnson is really doing a more important work for the relief and prosperity of the masses than all of those so-called "leaders" combined. He is striking at the root of evil extravagant expenditures of the people's hard earned tax money. It would not only be a reflection upon his district, but little short of a calamity to the country, to displace Joe Johnson with any other man. In this corrupt and selfish age, we cannot afford to lose public men who are so loyally and faithfully serving the public weal and welfare.

SUMMERSETT TO RUN.

Columbian Announces His Candidacy for State Office in Summer Primaries.

Columbia, May 10.—James A. Summersett, of Columbia, has announced that he will be a candidate for the office of comptroller general of South Carolina in the August primaries.

Mr. Summersett is therefore seeking to become the successor of the incumbent, A. W. Jones.

Mr. Summersett is well known in Columbia where he is engaged in the insurance and real estate business with George L. Dial, the firm name being Summersett & Dial, of 1217 Washington street. He was candidate for railroad commissioner in 1908 and 1909 and in that capacity toured the state with the other aspirants for state offices. He is not making his maiden effort in the political arena, by any means, having been a candidate for the legislature from this county in addition to having been a candidate for railroad commissioner. Mr. Summersett is chairman of the city Democratic executive committee and a former secretary of the pardon board where he served two years. For a number of years he was trainmaster for the Columbia, Newberry and Laurens railroad. Mr. Summersett lives at 2328 Park street. He is a brother of E. T. Summersett, president of the Columbia Baseball association.
